

HARDING IGNORES SENATE ON TREATY WITH GERMANY

Senator Johnson Draws Comparison With Acts of Wilson's Administration.

ASKS LODGE QUESTIONS.

Apparently the Administration Thinks Treaty Is No Concern of Senate's Till It Is Signed.

By David Lawrence.
(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (Copyright, 1921).—Senator Hiram Johnson of California has been making inquiries of Senator Lodge, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to determine what is going on between the United States Government and the German Government with respect to the establishment of peace. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and as such feels that he is entitled to know what steps are being taken to make peace with Germany. He asked Mr. Lodge if it was true that a treaty was being negotiated with Germany. Mr. Lodge said he had not been advised by the executive branch of the Government. Senator Johnson wanted to know if the German Reichstag Committee on Foreign Affairs had a copy of proposals to be embodied in a peace treaty and again the Massachusetts Senator professed ignorance.

"What would we have said if all this had happened under the last administration?" exclaims Senator Johnson, as he points out that not a scintilla of information has been given the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about the status of our negotiations or conversations with the German Government about peace. This fact has not been generally known. It has been supposed right along that President Harding and Secretary Hughes have been consulting the Senate. That was the chief criticism leveled against the Wilson Administration—a refusal to take cognizance of the Senate's function as a part of the treaty-making power. Senator Lodge himself insisted that the Senate had a right to have its way in advance of the actual signing of a peace treaty and he circulated a round-robin which was signed by practically all the Republican Senators expressing the Senate's views about a treaty which was then under negotiation.

The Massachusetts Senator was asked whether the Senate would have a similar opportunity to express its views on the new treaty while it was being negotiated, but this time he is reported to have said that he supposed it was not a matter of concern for the Senate until after the treaty was actually signed and submitted to the Senate for ratification. Whether Mr. Lodge meant to convey the impression that he himself had reversed his previous views on the subject of Senate intervention in peace negotiations or whether he meant that the executive branch of the Government felt it was not a matter of concern for the Senate is the basis of a good deal of speculation at the Capitol.

Senator Johnson incidentally is not the only member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who says he is in the dark about the foreign policy of the Administration. Others are saying the same thing. Senator Lodge, as Republican leader, naturally bears the brunt of this discontent. He asked for an engagement with President Harding just as soon as the latter returns from his ten day trip. Whether it was to get more information about the German treaty or to discuss a Senate recess was not indicated.

Certainly the Department of State has not given any sign of letting anybody know what sort of treaty is being outlined to Germany, and it may be that Mr. Lodge, having not been given details of the parley by Secretary Hughes, is asking the White House for information. The usual course is for the President or Secretary of State to advise the Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about important steps in foreign policy even though the details are frequently withheld. In the case of a treaty which is likely to be a source of controversy efforts are sometimes made to canvass sentiment in the Senate in advance to determine a course of action. On this occasion there is no explanation of the Department of State's policy except one.

It is being said that for reasons of domestic politics it might not be wise to precipitate a controversy before the treaty is actually signed. When once the pact is made there would be difficulty in amending it because that would necessitate further negotiations with Germany and more delay. The Hughes policy is evidently to confront the Senate with an accomplished fact just as Mr. Wilson endeavored to do when he submitted the Versailles pact.

Summed up, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is officially in ignorance of the fact that Secretary Hughes is discussing a new treaty with the German Government. It knows only what the press despatches from Berlin have reported, namely, that American Commissioner Drexel has laid before the German Government a memorandum outlining the kind of a treaty the State Department would like to see formulated. The German Government has been discussing the matter with its committee in the Reichstag to learn if approval would be given the pact. The answers thus far given in the informal exchanges are said to indicate eventual agreement, but just what is to be in the new treaty or what understandings are being secretly made with the German Government nobody in the Senate claims to know.

First Disabled Soldiers in New $10,000,000 Hospital.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The Speedway Hospital, the $10,000,000 institution which Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman, has tried for nearly three years to donate to the Government in memory of his son who fell in France, today housed its first quota of disabled war veterans.

It is said Mr. Hines paid $200,000 attorneys' fees to obtain acceptance by the Government, which was accomplished on condition it would not be named after the son, Lieut. Edward Hines Jr.

UNION TAILOR SHOT NEAR POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

Rush Hour Crowds See Mysterious Attack—Victim Dying.

Another shooting near Police Headquarters occurred in the rush hour this morning at Mott and Kenmare Streets, when three revolver shots startled the crowd and David Sodini, No. 729 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, a member of Local No. 55 of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, dropped to the sidewalk with a bullet in his abdomen. He is said to be dying at Bellevue. Two other members of the same local —Joseph Bonanno, No. 423 East 186th Street, and Samuel Hoeker, No. 94 Barrett Street, Brooklyn—took Sodini to the hospital, but they told the police they did not know him. The only theory the police have formed is that the shooting is an incident of the clothing workers' strike.

An Announcement

—and a Tribute to the Men who made Uptown New York

THE MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY announces the opening of its uptown banking rooms at 45th Street and Madison Avenue.

With the announcement of this important development, this company desires publicly to express an appreciation of those leaders in business who, through years past, have made uptown New York their everlasting debtor:

THE MERCANTILE here pays tribute to those men of vision—those men of courage—those men burdened with responsibility—who pinned their faith to the business possibilities of uptown New York and gave to the development of this section their utmost of energy and talent.

Look upon these great piles of masonry which line the streets! What are they? To the unseeing eye they are but business buildings, and nothing more.

But to those with the understanding mind they are monuments to a living force which has made of uptown New York one great city within another—a marvel for all time.

And so we pay tribute. May we serve as they have served.
